

“They Ought Always to Pray ...”

By Bill Johnson / Leo Holmann

I initially planned to write this article continuing the theme from last month, “What are ‘they’ doing? part 2.” Then, I read this Leo Holmann article entitled, “Luciferian elites will continue to steal elections and terrorize humanity until they meet overwhelming resistance.” I wanted you to have Leo Holmann’s article!! The following is a synopsis of his cutting edge article.

... Truth is, a color revolution was successfully orchestrated in the United States in November and December of last year. This opened the door for global power elites who hate America and everything it stands for to make their final desperate move for total control over humanity. Their goal is global governance over a drastically reduced world population and after decades of working toward this end they feel now is the time to make their decisive chess move. A checkmate for all time. ...

Because the evil ones have removed their masks and boldly called for such obviously totalitarian measures, such as forced masking and forced injections of every man, woman and child, they have awakened a great number within the sleeping masses.

With an awakened global population and protests breaking out across the world, the globalists know that we know what they are up to. They cannot retreat or they will lose everything, up to and possibly including their heads. They must double down.

What they have planned is global technocracy, a system of dictatorship by “experts,” which include scientists, engineers and bureaucrats like Dr. Anthony Fauci. Picture the regimes of Hitler, Stalin and Mao augmented by the powers of artificial intelligence, computer algorithms, facial-recognition software and gene-editing programs. Now you are staring into the face of a modern-day technocracy.

While many have woken up to the threat, there are still far too many sleeping. To the delight of the global predators of technocracy, these sleep walkers remain stuck in the mire of the worn-out Democrat vs. Republican paradigm.

They’re still looking over the horizon to 2022 and 2024, anticipating the arrival of their long-awaited saviors. They completely overlook the importance of now.

They do not understand that what occurred on Nov. 3 and Jan. 6 was designed as a coup, a permanent transfer of power away from the people and into the hands of a relative few powerful elites.

The only way to reverse this power transfer will be by the sheer force of aggressive human action. I’m not talking about violence. I am talking about a mass resistance of millions standing up and saying “no” to health passports and “no” to dehumanizing masks. Even the vaccinated who care about freedom should refuse to darken the door of any business asking to see a health passport.

No politician is going to ride to our rescue in 2022 or 2024. No court is going to step in and right the wrongs. No police agency is going to haul out the guilty parties in handcuffs.

It’s too late for that. We must do this ourselves, people. Now.

If anyone doubts the total fecklessness of the Republican Party, all they need to do is look at what went down this week. No less than 19 GOP senators crossed over and voted with Chuck Schumer and the Democrats to pass a $1.2 trillion “infrastructure” bill that has nothing to do with infrastructure. ...

Nearly 40 percent of our GOP senators voted with Democrats for a bill loaded with poison pills meant to collapse what’s left of our capitalist economy and usher in the green new deal, Chinese-style smart cities and total digital surveillance.

On deck is an amnesty bill granting legal status to more than 30 million illegal migrants and sending the message to future migrants that if you come, you will be granted a path to full U.S. citizenship, no questions asked.

This 19-vote cross over disproves the argument that we “lost the Senate” in January because conservative voters in Georgia failed to turn out for two GOP senators in a special election. The truth is we lost the Senate the day GOP senators voted to support globalist Mitch McConnell as their leader. In the House we have the equally inept globalist Kevin McCarthy.

What about the Supreme Court and its six Republican-appointed justices? Can they be trusted? Remember this is the esteemed body that refused to even look at the evidence suggesting massive voter fraud in the 2020 election, citing the laughable excuse that no one, not a single American, had legal standing to bring such a case before them. How dare they even try!

The laws and the Constitution are not going to save us because those in charge of applying them lack the courage to stand up to the coup plotters.

The police are not going to save us. In the end, they will follow orders. The military? The signs haven't exactly inspired confidence.

The coup that occurred in late 2020 and early 2021 could still be reversed but it won't happen by the ballot box – not when we have an outside third-party private vendor hiding behind its proprietary software in control of elections in all 50 states. These private vendors are not accountable to we the people, they don't answer to us, and as long as they are in charge of vote tabulation, nothing will change. ...

Nor is this just an American problem. Electronic voting machines are used worldwide and controlled by a handful of well-connected global corporations.

This may well mark the end of the age of individual nation states and individual rights, moving into a new age of technocratic globalism, where everyone is expected to fall in line for the benefit of the “global collective good.” Problem is, those defining the terms of what is morally right and good are the same crowd that's repeatedly said “saving the planet” requires depopulation and less individual freedom.

When the new digital currency is rolled out, I believe that will mark the point of no return for nations that join the new monetary system. The pressure to do so will be intense, just as the pressure is intense on individuals to give up sovereignty over their own bodies.

This is a spiritual war between good and evil. The initial targets will be traditionally minded Christians and Jews. But make no mistake, this evil system will demand everyone's allegiance. ...

This is a battle, unique in history, for who owns our bodies. Your body. My body. Everyone's body....

These elites truly believe they can deconstruct what it means to be human and rebuild it “better.” They hate God and so they detest the humanity God created in His image. They hate the idea of nations because God ordained the nations. They wish to destroy God-given human instincts like protecting the innocence of children, respect for human life, the nuclear family, compassion for the elderly, etc., and replace them with their satanically inspired values.

The digital health passports are the linchpin to the creation of a new beast system of total information domination, where everything you do is tracked and traced and evaluated for its conformity to the global rules. The passports will eventually be connected to the banking system and a new digital currency that will replace cash. You buck the rules, you lose access to your money.

Anyone who refuses to live as a digital slave by putting the tracking app on their phone that converts them to a walking QR code, will find themselves targeted for persecution. ...

Don't be fooled. These injections are anti-God and anti-human, and the pressure being brought to bear on all humanity to accept these shots as a new and continuous part of their lives is unprecedented. This pressure is undeniably coming from the top down, starting at the apex of an evil network that includes the Rockefeller Foundation, the Gates Foundation and his GAVI Global Alliance, the Soros foundations, the Vatican, the World Economic Forum, the International Monetary Fund and the United Nations, among others. From there it filters down to the major corporations....

The objective is to turn us against each other and provoke a civil war. We must resist their provocations. The globalists, with no love of any country and a hatred for God, are the enemy. Resist them. Refuse to buy their products, go to their theme parks, don't watch their Netflix movies or go to their major sporting events, don't ride on their airplanes when it's possible to drive, don't put money in their big banks and use cash whenever possible. ... [Written by Leo Holmann, <https://leohohmann.com/>]

Bill Johnson: Leo Hohmann paints a very disturbing picture of those seeking to bring global domination. As it says in Psalm 2, “...the rulers take counsel together, against the Lord and against his Anointed, saying, ‘Let us burst their bonds apart and cast away their cords from us.’” Yet, as Charles Spurgeon reminds us, God is the Judge of the earth – it is His will unfolding, not the machinations of man.

No one can study the history of the rise and fall of empires without perceiving that there is a power which makes for righteousness and, in the end, brings iniquity before its bar and condemns it with unsparing justice. Sin shall not go unpunished, and goodness shall not remain unrewarded. The Judge of all the earth must do right. [C.H. Spurgeon]

We ought always to pray! God is faithful!

Biden's Betrayal

By Lisa Van Houten

On the 20th anniversary of the horrific 9/11 attacks on our nation, a Taliban flag will now be flying over the U.S. Embassy in Afghanistan. For nearly 20 years, American service members heroically served in Afghanistan and helped protect our nation from experiencing another 9/11. Their service and sacrifice were not in vain. We left the blood of thousands of American patriots on the ground of Afghanistan. Now, thanks to the betrayal of Biden and his administration, we are leaving behind chaos and a rampaging jihadist Taliban armed with billions and billions dollars-worth of sophisticated, American weaponry. It is an unmitigated national security and humanitarian disaster. And it's all on Joe Biden and the Pentagon who are more concerned about the supposed threat of "white supremacy" (aka Trump voters) than they are Islamic Supremacy.

There were numerous warnings from intelligence officials that Afghanistan would quickly fall to the Taliban, but Biden ignored the warnings and did nothing to protect American lives and prevent the chaos that's occurred, while lying repeatedly to the American people.

It doesn't take a military strategist to understand that to ensure an orderly evacuation, first evacuate American civilians, then remove all military equipment, and lastly withdraw American troops. Yet Biden and the Pentagon and State Department, pulled out our military first, leaving behind thousands of American civilians and a massive trove of military equipment and sensitive technology. Taliban fighters are now fully armed, paid for by the U.S. taxpayer. Just some of the cache of U.S. weapons we abandoned to the Taliban include: 2000 armored vehicles, 30-40 aircraft and attack helicopters, sophisticated drones, Humvees, a stockpile of 50-caliber machine guns. You know our technology is now in the hands of our enemies.

Yet what is far more troubling are the thousands of American civilians left behind with no plan to rescue them. Our State Dept. can't even tell us how many Americans are trapped behind enemy lines in Afghanistan – it's estimated to be as many as 15,000. The Biden administration issued a statement to these Americans telling them to make their way to the Taliban-surrounded Kabul airport on their own. The statement concluded with these terrifying words: "PLEASE BE ADVISED THAT THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT CANNOT GUARANTEE YOUR SECURITY AS YOU MAKE THIS TRIP." Because we senselessly and prematurely abandoned Bagram Airfield, which should have been used to evacuate Americans, these civilians are now at the mercy of the Taliban. Many are predicting this will be a massive American hostage crisis.

As of this writing (8/19/21) transport planes are leaving filled to only 60% of their capacity and one report stated that only 300 Americans had been flown out, yet thousands of Afghan refugees. At least 30,000 unvetted Afghans will be transported to the United States. While we certainly have an obligation to rescue the many Afghan citizens whose lives are in danger from the Taliban because they assisted the U.S., it's vital that these refugees be vetted. Do we really think the Biden administration will do so? In addition, numbers of Afghans betrayed the soldiers they worked for, leading to the death of numerous Americans. We're naïve if we think the Taliban hasn't infiltrated the refugees we're rescuing.

Before we pulled out, the U.S. had 2,500 troops in Afghanistan. We've now had to re-deploy 7,000. But while Great Britain has dropped in paratroopers to rescue British citizens in Afghanistan, the Biden administration claims they don't have the means to go out and secure the safety of Americans.

As Biden abandoned Americans, he also abandoned our allies. The war in Afghanistan had been a NATO mission, yet Biden didn't communicate or coordinate with our allies who were stunned and left in the lurch by our sudden withdrawal. Not only has Biden lost us the trust of our allies, he, along with our incompetent Pentagon, signaled to our enemies that the U.S. is weak, spineless, and ripe for the taking. It's a massive national security concern as China, Russia, and Iran are emboldened to further expand their military threat. China is already using our embarrassing exit from Afghanistan to threaten Taiwan with invasion, blatantly warning our tiny ally that the U.S. has proven we don't have the resolve to come to Taiwan's aid. And who has the most to gain from Biden's humiliating withdrawal from Afghanistan? The Chinese Communist Party, which has funneled millions of dollars to the Bidens. China has already struck a deal with Taliban leaders to bring China's One Belt-One Road Initiative through Afghanistan, as well as gaining control of much of Afghanistan's highly coveted natural resources - including oil, copper, and rare earth minerals. It's a win-win for China as they expand their presence and influence in the Middle East.

Yet the most devastating ramification of Biden's ill-planned withdrawal is the human suffering that is occurring and will only worsen. The Taliban are going door to door taking women and girls as young as 12 to become sex slaves. The small but growing Christian population is being targeted for death. Religion News Service reported that "the Taliban demand people's phones, and if they find a downloaded Bible on your device, they will kill you immediately." Pray fervently for these brothers and sisters in Christ!

The Gospel Coalition wrote of a group of Afghan Christian pastors who were meeting the weekend the Taliban took control. As they received the news that the Afghan government had fallen to the Taliban, they were singing the final verse of "A Mighty Fortress is our God" - Let goods and kindred go, this mortal life also; the body they may kill: God's truth abideth still; his kingdom is forever! As the nations rage around us, may we, along with our fellow believers around the world, rest on the surety of that Truth. In Him alone is our refuge.

Standing Up as a Soldier in God's Army

By Kimberly Cargill

*Onward, Christian soldiers,
marching as to war,
With the cross of Jesus going on before.
Christ, the royal Master,
leads against the foe;
Forward into battle see His banners go!
Onward, Christian soldiers,
marching as to war,
With the cross of Jesus going on before.*

Recently, in church, we sang this old song as a congregation. I hadn't sung this song in a while. As I sang, I thought about the words, what they meant and how they apply to today.

Christ is the commander of the army and we are His soldiers. We may not be going to war in the military sense but we are fighting a spiritual war every day. Every day we are bombarded with so much propaganda that it is hard not to be affected by it. It comes in various forms – Media, Television, Schools/Colleges, Friends, Family and the list could go on. Everyone or every company has their opinions or propaganda that they want you to agree with and follow.

Schools and colleges are starting back up and we are trusting our children with these educators. We are letting them influence our children's minds and actions for a very large chunk of the day. Parents need to be very much involved in their children's education and know what they are learning or reading. You need to look at their text books and read the books that they are required to read. Also, get to know the teacher. What do they believe on some of these issues? That will make a difference in how the teacher presents some of these subjects to the kids.

In the June newsletter, we informed you of a school, close to us, that was heavily promoting the LGBTQ agenda during a week-long "spirit week." Some of the students that didn't want to join in on the activities were bullied by their teachers and friends.

Even when your child is going to college, you need to be involved. What is going on around the campus? What are the professors actually teaching? Sometimes you think that you are safe by sending them to a "Christian" college. We at ADA had a parent come and speak at a conference in July about what he found at a "Christian" college in the area. He shared that without researching groups that the college invited, he would never have known what the group really stood for and the propaganda they were spreading. It was eye opening: the agenda that the college was allowing to be spread even though it goes against their Christian beliefs.

We cannot sit on the side lines and think that just because you went to that school or college when you were that age that it is still the same school – they have changed.

Television is also a big way of spreading information. The majority have their televisions going at some point throughout the day. Companies know how to sell more than products through their advertising. They are not just selling their products, but spreading propaganda. Commercials are filled with messages promoting the ideas of LGBTQ, Black Lives Matter, and whatever the left wants us to see as normal. You also see television shows normalizing these issues. Even what used to be safe shows, like Sesame Street or the Hallmark channel, have incorporated these issues. It is not safe to just turn on the television and think you are going to see shows like we used to have – they have changed.

As Christians, are we sitting on the side lines letting the other side spread their message/propaganda or are we taking a stand and taking control of what is being shared or projected onto our families? We as believers are told to stand on the truth – the Word of God.

We need to know what the Bible says and then we need to apply it. We should be in the Word of God, putting on the whole

Armor of God, daily getting ready for whatever comes our way. We should be praying over our children before they go to school and for ourselves as we go to work (a hedge of protection). We need to remember what Christ said in Matthew 28:20 "... lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

In the third verse of the song, "Onward Christian Soldiers:"

*Like a mighty army moves the Church of God;
Brothers, we are treading where the saints have trod.
We are not divided, all one body we,
One in hope and doctrine, one in charity.*

Are we, as a body of God, standing as a mighty army against the "evils" of today? Are we looking at what the saints of old had gone through and how God delivered them? Are we looking at what the Word of God is actually saying and standing on the Truth even when it goes against what is being accepted by the culture?

We need to be lifting each other up in prayer and encouragement. We are fighting the same battles and we need to be informed. We should be informing each other of the "battles" that are going on and standing with each other. Being a soldier of God is not always easy. He tells us that we will go through trials and tribulations, but then He tells us, "... I am with you always." Do we truly agree and move onward into "battle?" Do we obey His orders wholeheartedly as our Commander?

Living in a Viral Age

By Chris Johnson

“Believe me, dear sir or madam, you and all whom you love were already sentenced to death before the atomic bomb was invented: and quite a high percentage of us were going to die in unpleasant ways. It is perfectly ridiculous to go about whimpering and drawing long faces because the scientists have added one more chance of painful and premature death to a world which already bristled with such chances and in which death itself was not a chance at all, but a certainty.”

This is from C.S. Lewis’ essay in answer to the question, “How are we to live in an atomic age?” Lewis was addressing this question while the damage of the atomic bombs used in Japan was still fresh in the memory of his audience. I imagine many of those reading his essay in London had memories or had heard stories of buildings which they had only just left which had been destroyed by traditional bombs, but now there was a bomb from which there would be no close calls or narrow escapes.

Death by atomic bomb doubtless felt as real a danger to them as Covid seems to many of us. Or, these days, any number of other fears. Personally, as the various government departments label those who don’t wholeheartedly cling to the tales spun behind their briefing lecterns as potential terrorists; and as network personalities egg them on by comparing the Taliban’s overthrow of Afghanistan to the January protestors in Washington D.C who’ve so far mostly been charged only with trespassing; I live in more fear of the helicopters in the air than I do the nano-particles in it.

Allow me to continue to let Mr. Lewis do the talking: “...the first action to be taken is to pull ourselves together. If we are all going to be destroyed by an atomic bomb, let that bomb when it comes find us doing sensible and human things – praying, work- ing, teaching, reading, listening to music, bathing the children, playing tennis, chatting to our friends over a pint and a game of darts – not huddled together like frightened sheep and thinking about bombs. They may break our bodies (a microbe can do that) but they need not dominate our minds.”

I promise, I didn’t add the part about the microbe.

Lewis continues: “What the atomic bomb has really done is to remind us forcibly of the sort of world we are living in and which, during the prosperous period before, we were beginning to forget. And this reminder is, so far as it goes, a good thing. We have been waked from a pretty dream, and now we can begin to talk about realities.”

And what “kind of world are we living in?” Earlier in his essay, Lewis draws our attention to the examples of London in the 16th century, where the plague ravaged London year after year, or the coasts of Scandinavia where its residents were under constant threat of attack from Vikings with no warning. We could add any number of examples from history even going back to the Bible, like the time of Moses when an entire nation was doomed to slave labor, or of Christ when all the infants and toddlers of an entire village were slaughtered to preserve political power, or the time of the Crusades, or of William Tyndale when he was executed for being a Bible translator, or even of C.S. Lewis, when dying in a Nazi air raid was a very real possibility.

We live in a world where atrocities happen. Lewis lived in a time where technology had only begun to advance, at least compared to the rate it does today, but even then he saw that the advancements of technology and society (largely due to Christian civilization) had begun to allow people to grow accustomed to comfort and safety. How much more today?

Today, many refuse to awake from the dream and be reminded that life inevitably leads to death. If we instate the right policies, if we make people take the right medicine, if we say the right things on Facebook, maybe our comfort and safety can continue. To which Lewis says, “We must resolutely train ourselves to feel that the survival of Man on this Earth, much more of our own nation or culture or class, is not worth having unless it can be had by honorable and merciful means.”

Nothing is more likely to destroy a species or a nation than a determination to survive at all costs. Those who care for something else more than civilization are the only people by whom civilization is at all likely to be preserved. Those who want Heaven most have served Earth best. Those who love man less than God do most for man.”

If we are guided by the fear of a virus or of a policy or of our neighbors, rather than a desire to follow the Will of God expressed in His Word, we are destined to repeat the worst parts of history.

As Paul told Timothy, “God gave us a spirit not of fear but of power and love and self-control.”

I’m reminded of Ecclesiastes 3.

*“Moreover, I saw under the sun that in the place of justice, even there was wickedness, and in the place of righteousness, even there was wickedness. I said in my heart, God will judge the righteous and the wicked, for there is a time for every matter and for every work... All go to one place. All are from the dust, and to dust all return... So I saw that there is nothing better than that a man should rejoice in his work, for that is his lot...

The question is what is the work that this time is for, which God has given us to rejoice in doing? Running for school board, praying outside Planned Parenthood, talking with your child’s principal, cooking dinner for your family, stepping up at work, changing diapers at home, leading your family in Worship – Lewis had his own list: “praying, working, teaching, reading, listening to music, bathing the children, playing tennis, chatting to our friends over a pint and a game of darts” –sensible, human things all to the glory of God.

May we rejoice in the work God has given us, and may He use it to His glory and our good.

Fighting For Our Children, Our Nation

By Steve Huston

George Barna's research indicates that one's worldview is pretty much solidified by age thirteen. Parents are rising up all over America as they watch their child's worldview, morality, sensibility and sense of morality, not to mention the parent's own authority get hijacked by a public school system that has been corrupted by Marxist administrators and a government gone rogue in forcing its own worldview upon impressionable minds.

Parents/teachers who care deeply for their children/students are letting their voices be heard. "A Christian public school teacher resigned in front of her school board...to protest its embrace of what she calls 'highly politicized agendas' that contradict her beliefs. (Christian Post 8/12/21)" "Moms of Liberty" scour through newly adopted curriculum by Williamson County, Tennessee that teaches Critical Race Theory implicitly to their children grades K-5. (Epoch Times 7/22/21) "Scores of parents and citizens rallied to voice their disapproval of the board outside the school administration building" ahead of Loudoun County's transgender policy adoption. (Epoch Times 8/11/21) We have been reporting on the concerned parents of Whitehall, MI whose school children have been exposed to pornography via email and strong coercion of LGBT propaganda during "Pride Week" at school.

Rhode Island mom, Nicole Salas is being sued by NEA (National Education Association) state and local chapters for asking what her school system was teaching about Critical Race Theory (CRT) and Gender Theory. When contacting the school she was told several times by different people that these questions could only be answered by sending in a public record request, so she did. In turn, they attempted to humiliate her publicly and eventually she was sued. When she was asked what her advice for parents who are concerned about what may be going on in their child's school, she replied:

"Submit public records requests and specifically ask for the communications of union members with school officials and school employees. The teacher's union is saying they want to have a push on critical race theory in a school district and if they're going to participate in our children's education, then their participation is subject to public disclosure and we should all be reading those emails."

When Family Research Council's Meg Kilgannon, Senior Fellow for Education Studies, was asked what she would say to parents who live in rural red parts of America who are thinking, "Thank God I don't live in San Francisco, Loudoun County, or similar places, everything is fine here," she responded thusly.

"I would say that you need to make sure that's true. And I think you'll be surprised when you investigate your school system. There are a lot of wonderful people in the public school system. There are fabulous teachers. Christians are in the public schools without a doubt. But the forces that control a place like Silicon Valley – that thinking, that ideology – are also very prevalent in education. The term "cultural Marxism" is a term that people talk about. That is the cultural mindset of people who are running universities and schools of education within universities that produce teachers, and certainly that impacts every school system. There are organizations like the Southern Poverty Law Center and the ACLU who write letters all over the country to school systems in rural counties too. They say if you don't adopt this pro-LGBT policy or if you don't adopt this racially controversial policy we're going to sue you. And in a rural system that doesn't have a lot of resources, that's a very real threat. The school system needs to hear from parents. They need to feel your support for them. Your worldview needs to be expressed in that environment; it is desperately needed."

As a loving parent, grandparent, or concerned citizen, what are some things we should be doing?

First: Parents need to be the primary relationship in their child's life. Make sure your child knows that they can talk to you about anything and that you love them and will love them, no matter what. Let them know why you take the stands you do and have real discussions with them.

Second: Decide. What is the line too far; what's the deal breaker? At what point does a parent say, "My child is not going back there."

Third: Recognize the lies, speak truth in their stead, and patiently teach your children to do likewise. Russian truth-teller, Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, said, "The simple step of a courageous individual is not to take part in the lie. One word of truth outweighs the world." "In our country, the lie has become not just a moral category, but a pillar of the state. In breaking with the lie we are performing a moral act, not a political one, not one that can be punished by criminal law, but one that would immediately have an effect on our way of life."

Fourth: Get on the school board and be vocal. Go to Family Research Council's School Board Bootcamp (<https://frcaction.org/get.cfm?i=WX21G03>) to learn 1) what it's like to serve; 2) the Issues: CRT, LGBTQ+, School Discipline; 3) How to Run a Campaign for Local Office; and 4) Other Ways to Serve: PACs, Parent Groups, & Recalls.

Fifth: Go through your local school's curriculum and sit in the classroom. Listen to the instruction being given to your child. Take back the role of guardian.

Sixth: Realize you are not alone. There are many others who care about what is being taught; find them and stand together.

Seventh: Go to FRC.org/worldview and use the resources there to help your children and others gain a Biblical worldview.

Do the “Reich” Thing - Or Else!

By Lisa Van Houten

As the Biden administration demonizes Americans for not taking a vaccine that hasn't even been approved by the FDA, yet lets thousands of unvaccinated, and often covid-infected, illegal immigrants cross our southern border and then busses them all across the country – you know their motivation is not the health of American citizens.

So, what is their motivation? The answer: control. Control of you and of our nation. The sweeping, tyrannical mandates in response to a hyped-up pandemic are not ultimately meant to save our lives, but to restrict our liberty.

We're seeing a concerted push from an alliance between government, corporate America, and public education to force Americans to take a vaccine in order to participate in normal life. Many employers and universities now require a covid vaccine or face termination/expulsion. Vaccine passports are also required in several major U.S. cities in order to enter restaurants, gyms, and other public establishments. I'm not writing to either dissuade you from or encourage you to get the covid vaccine – that's your personal choice. And that's exactly my point – no entity should coerce you to put something into your body.

Whether or not you've been vaccinated, the implementation of mandatory vaccinations and vaccine passports should horrify all Americans! Our freedom and personal autonomy are not predicated upon having received a specific medical procedure. The Constitution doesn't guarantee freedom only to those who've received a covid vaccine. Vaccine passports are a form of medical tyranny – pressuring people to take an injection or lose their freedom. Will we meekly give away our God-given liberty? If we go along with vaccine passports, we're allowing those in power to tell us that participating in civic life is not a human right, but merely a privilege that the government can grant or take away for any reason they deem.

Vaccine passports don't just restrict the freedom of the unvaccinated, but also of those who've chosen to be vaccinated. Life as we know it will fundamentally change if we, like sheep, go along with these dictates reminiscent of Nazi Germany, requiring us to show our papers at the door every time we want to enter a restaurant or any public venue.

Today it's a requirement of a vaccine in order to live and work freely, what will it be in the future? Once the precedent has been set whereby government and other entities can restrict our activity based on any supposed “crisis,” the assaults on freedom will never end. The Associated Press has reported that the Biden administration has considered mandating vaccine passports for interstate travel! Can you imagine in America needing permission to cross state lines? Vaccine passports can easily become a stepping stone toward greater digital surveillance and “social credit systems” such as those used by Communist China to force its citizens to comply.

These edicts, which are not based on any law, are also not based on science. The Los Angeles Raiders became the first NFL team (of what will probably be many) that requires all spectators to be vaccinated. However, fans who aren't vaccinated, can get the job right at the stadium and then be allowed in – as if that will immediately offer protection. Obviously, it's not about health, but about coercing what our overlords tell us is “right” behavior. Another example, Quinnipiac University announced it will not provide school WIFI access to unvaccinated students. Again, not about health, but about punishing those who don't comply with the dictates of our dictators.

Do you notice how many of these vaccine edicts are not coming directly from the government, but from corporations and other institutions? Just as the Biden administration has aligned with Big Tech to get opposing views censored from social media, the Left is also using Corporate America to institute their policies, bypassing constitutional restrictions. CNN actually reported: “The Biden administration is working on creating a set of standards for people to prove they've been vaccinated against Covid-19, according to an administration official. The official said they're currently working with a range of companies on the standards ...” As Cheryl K. Chumley explains in the Washington Times, “In layman's, that means the White House is taking a leadership role in helping — “helping” — companies develop a vaccine passport system that will stand the test of court scrutiny. It won't be federally mandated — technically. But it will be federally developed and enforced by the private sector.”

Bureaucrats with no medical expertise are controlling what we take into our bodies. Either you blindly do what they say, or you're labeled an anti-vaxxer. There are millions of Americans who are not “anti-vaxxer,” who've gotten vaccines all their lives, who get a flu shot each year – yet are hesitant about taking an experimental vaccine. They should not be penalized for following their conscience.

While people who have been vaccinated have chosen to do so for a variety of legitimate reasons, those who have not taken the vaccine also have a variety of legitimate reasons for their decision. For example, many are concerned that the vaccines are experimental. We don't know what the long-term effects will be. Does it affect fertility in young women? Does it affect a pregnant woman's child? Also, over 36 million Americans have tested positive for covid and recovered – in addition to countless ones who had covid and never knew it. These millions of Americans have natural immunities that studies have shown offer far greater and longer-lasting protection than vaccinations. Why should the immune be required to take a vaccine? Yet many of the vaccine passports and mandates do not take into account those who have natural immunities. And as we're seeing more and more breakthrough cases of covid among the fully vaccinated, how can vaccine mandates even be justified? Again, it shows it's not ultimately about health or following the science – but control.

As Ben Franklin famously said: “Those who would give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety, deserve neither liberty nor safety.” We should all be very concerned about creating a system of second-class citizens. Those who have chosen not to take an experimental vaccine should not have their jobs threatened or be denied entrance to any establishment. And no one should have to show personal medical information in order to dine at a restaurant. If we surrender our liberty - given to us by God, not government – we’ll never know freedom again.

If your employer is requiring that you get a covid vaccine or risk losing your job, there are recourses that you can take. The Liberty Counsel has a helpful vax exemption guide at www.lc.org.

In addition, the following brief letter is a sample exemption request you can personalize and give to an employer:

“I have not had a vaccine for COVID-19, and I do not intend to. On __, I tested positive for COVID-19; I recovered completely and am now immune. My sincerely held religious belief is that I must not get the shot; thus, I would like to be exempt from any requirement to do so.”

If you have not tested positive for covid, then you'll have to delete the sentence regarding that. However, if you think you may have had covid, but aren't sure, talk to your doctor about taking an antibody test. If it shows you do have natural antibodies, you could provide that information.

Promising News in the Search for a Kidney

In our July 2021 newsletter we wrote of ADA staff member Lisa Van Houten’s need of a kidney transplant. There is promising news, which we pray may lead to the even better news of a donor.

Earlier we wrote that Lisa’s donor must be blood type O. However, it is entirely possible for her to benefit from a donor with any other blood type through the Paired Kidney Exchange Program. If you are between the ages of 18-65 and are in good health, you are a potential donor whose kidney could benefit Lisa, regardless of your blood type. The “promising” part? This more than doubles the possible donor pool!

As Lisa’s kidney function declines, she will need dialysis in the months ahead if a suitable donor is not found. Please pray that someone would step forward soon; living-donor kidneys generally lead to better outcomes for recipients than deceased-donor kidneys.

Might God be calling you to this extra-special donation to American Decency Association? If so, please contact St. Mary’s/Mercy Health Living Donor at (616) 685-6899 for more information. The call is completely confidential. Typically there are no medical costs to donors or to their insurance.

Thank you for your prayers!

Do You Ever Wonder What Kids Are Learning At School

We are excited to offer as a resource to you videos of our latest conference on how LGBT propaganda has made its way into our education system at every level.

A concerned parent from Whitehall, Michigan addresses the way the LGBTQ agenda is being promulgated in her public school system. Many students felt uncomfortable and bullied by teachers and other students that were part of the Gay Straight Alliance (GSA). Make no mistake; this is infiltrating, to one degree or another, many of our public schools.

Next up is American Family Radio’s Meeke Addison. With various slides and videos that show how insidious public education can be in introducing degrading lifestyles to innocent, moldable, children, this is an information packed and disturbing presentation. One man told me, “I knew it (the schools) was bad; I had no idea it was THIS bad.”

Glenn Bulthuis points out the responsibility of the church and the colleges and universities which are supported by it to present the truth in all areas of life. Having personally interacted with Calvin College, he shares an extensive timeline of both how that particular college has catered to the LGBTQ and the drop in its enrollment.

Finally, M.D. Perkins deals with “The Roots of the Revolution.” He dives into the histories of two dark and degenerate men, showing how they have influenced our culture and brought about a change in both society’s thinking and what governs it.

We believe that this four DVD set will inform you as to what it is that students in schools across the country are being taught with information you won’t find anywhere else. To order, see enclosed response card.
